

AAPEX 2022 Is Happening Soon!

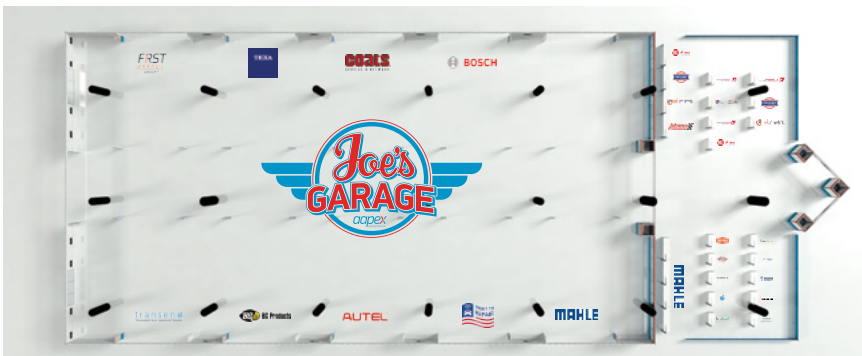

It's almost time for the automotive aftermarket community to meet in Las Vegas for AAPEX 2022. Together, we'll discover new technology, make smart connections, see the latest trends and develop powerful skills to prepare for the industry changes ahead. November is just around the corner, and Early Bird registration is now open for only $40 through Friday, September 30. Make sure you act fast – starting October 1, registration prices will increase to $90.

Looking to expand your skills at AAPEX? Starting at $50 per training session, you can learn from the best and take advantage of all the top-notch training sessions available. Spots are filling up fast, so make sure to sign up now!

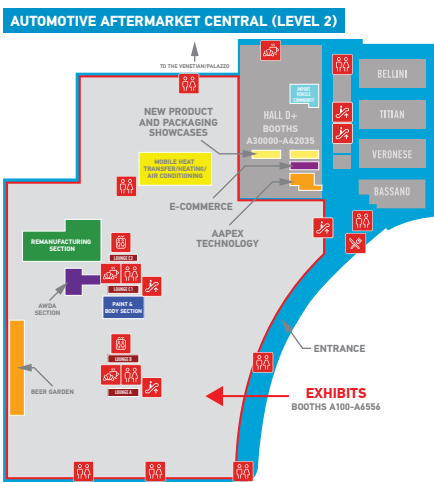

Featured Sections

Joe's Garage

There is so much to see at this year's event, including the fan-favorite Joe's Garage within Repair Shop HQ – a working garage featuring fully equipped bays, lifts, and vehicles designed for live product and equipment demos from industry experts.

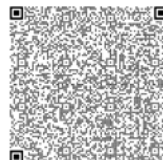

This year, AAPEX is launching two brand new sections to our show: the e-Commerce section, focusing on taking a closer look at tools and strategies for online sales of automotive parts, and a new transmission section that you won't want to miss! We're also expanding the total number of booths in the diagnostic section, as well as adding a business coaching element to help you achieve your sales goals. See it all in person at AAPEX!

SPONSOR NEW TALENT

Student Sponsor Program

Exhibitors can help shape careers and spark passion in young, bright minds by participating in our Student Sponsorship Program. Learn more about supporting new, qualified talent within the industry by sending a student for two full days to AAPEX here.

Sponsor a Tech Program

Exhibiting companies and warehouse distributors are also encouraged to invite technicians to AAPEX through the Sponsor a Tech program! Technicians will receive a scholarship package to AAPEX to participate in hands-on training and live demos, visit the show floor to see new products and technologies, and attend keynote sessions and special networking events. Join the Celebration

We're kicking off AAPEX 2022 with an official opening reception! Join us Monday evening, October 31, for food, drinks and a ribbon cutting ceremony to celebrate the automotive aftermarket industry's biggest event. The reception is not ticketed, so everyone is welcome. It's the perfect chance to start exchanging ideas and building business connections that will last long after the week's events. We can't wait to see you at AAPEX 2022.

Who's going to AAPEX this year? AAPEX 2022 is attracting the industry's best buyers, and you'll have the chance to meet face-to-face with them and expand your network in Las Vegas. Meet buyers from companies like Car Media, Autozone, Amazon, Pep Boys, O'Reilly Auto Parts, and many, many more. Find out who else you will see by scanning the QR Code.

Special Preview: A Thought-Provoking Keynote

In "Differing Opinions Discuss the 2022 Midterms and Beyond" James Carville and Karl Rove will provide their unique viewpoints on what trends to expect in the coming year and how the following week's midterm elections will affect the future of the United States – and the rest of the world. During the session they'll engage in moderated conversation and answer questions from the audience.

Education

AAPEX provides relevant education to address current industry issues and the future of the automotive aftermarket. Take a look at some of the powerful onsite training sessions happening in Vegas this year.

● Charge What You're Worth

Murray Voth, owner at RPM Training, will teach shop owners how to charge a more profitable rate by discussing labor rates, facility service rates, labor guides, and more.

● Hybrid and EV Case Studies

Taught by Matthew Lamontagne, Founder & Lead Instructor of HiVo Group, this session will familiarize technicians with the unique challenges presented by hybrid and electric vehicles using real-world cases.

● Building a Culture That Employees Embrace

Bill Haas and Sara Fraser from Haas Performance Consulting teach how to future-proof your business with the right talent by creating a culture that attracts employees.
